Forward Looking Statements and Safe Harbor

This presentation contains statements which, to the extent that they are not recitations of historical fact may constitute forward-looking statements for purposes of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. Such forward-looking statements may include financial and other projections, as well as statements regarding the expected financial and other effects of the transaction, Bryn Mawr Bank Corporation's ("Bryn Mawr" or "BMBC") future plans, objectives, performance, revenues, growth, profits, operating expenses or BMBC's underlying assumptions. The words "may," "would," "should," "could," "will," "likely," "possibly," "expect," "anticipate," "intend," "indicate," "estimate," "target," "potentially," "promising," "probably," "outlook," "predict," "contemplate," "continue," "plan," "forecast," "project," "are optimistic," "are looking," "are looking forward" and "believe" or other similar words and phrases may identify forward-looking statements. Persons reading this presentation are cautioned that such statements are only predictions, and that BMBC's actual future results or performance may be materially different.

Such forward-looking statements involve known and unknown risks and uncertainties. A number of factors, many of which are beyond BMBC's control, could cause actual results, events or developments, or industry results, to be materially different from any future results, events or developments expressed, implied or anticipated by such forward-looking statements, and so business and financial condition and results of operations could be materially and adversely affected. In addition to factors previously disclosed in BMBC's reports filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") and those identified elsewhere in this document, such factors include, among others, that BMBC is unable to successfully implement integration strategies in connection with its acquisitions; reputational risks and the reaction of an acquired company's customers to an acquisition by BMBC or its subsidiaries; diversion of management time on acquisition-related issues; the integration of acquired businesses with BMBC may take longer than anticipated or be more costly to complete and that the anticipated benefits, including any anticipated cost savings or strategic gains may be significantly harder to achieve or take longer than anticipated or may not be achieved; the need for capital, ability to control operating costs and expenses, and to manage loan and lease delinquency rates; the credit risks of lending activities and overall quality of the composition of loan, lease and securities portfolio; the impact of economic conditions, consumer and business spending habits, and real estate market conditions; changes in the levels of general interest rates, deposit interest rates, or net interest margin and funding sources; changes in banking regulations and policies and the possibility that any banking agency approvals BMBC might require for certain activities will not be obtained in a timely manner or at all or will be conditioned in a manner that would impair BMBC's ability to implement our business plans; changes in tax regulations or accounting policies and practices; the inability of key third-party providers to perform their obligations to us; our ability to attract and retain key personnel; competition in our marketplace; war or terrorist activities; material differences in the actual financial results, cost savings and revenue enhancements associated with BMBC's acquisitions. All forward-looking statements and information set forth herein are based on management's current beliefs and assumptions as of the date hereof and speak only as of the date they are made. BMBC does not undertake to update forward-looking statements.

For a complete discussion of the assumptions, risks and uncertainties related to our business, you are encouraged to review our filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, including our most recent Annual Report on Form 10-K, as updated by our quarterly or other reports subsequently filed with the SEC.

This presentation is for discussion purposes only, and shall not constitute any offer to sell or the solicitation of an offer to buy any security, nor is it intended to give rise to any legal relationship between BMBC and you or any other person, nor is it a recommendation to buy any securities or enter into any transaction with BMBC.
